When he gets back to Pennsylvania, he will not look another day in the Senate. The senator predicted he will leave Pennsylvania and a group of able continuing his illness, says when Matt Foley dies, the way to the respondents called his cottage "Fort Arden." Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Which thoroughly cleanse the blood, expelling all humors and building up the whole system. They cure

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Wolter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of Hood's than can be published.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

CHARLES KOCHENDORFER

Writes a Most Interesting Letter From Los Angeles, Where He Recently Met Quite a Colony of Newark Visitors.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 19, 1934.

Editor Advocate:

I suppose that by now Newark has missed a considerable number of her East End population, and no doubt, are asking, "Where they are at?" They are not lost, but at the same time are a long way from home—in fact, about as far away as it is possible for them to get without wetting their feet in the placid waters of the Pacific ocean. It was quite by accident I found them, and I assure you I was well pleased in doing so. It occurred in this way:

While sauntering around the corner of Second and Spring streets, Los Angeles, yesterday, I could hardly locate myself. Was I at home, in Newark? Or was I dreaming? There surrounding me on all sides were men I knew—men with whom I had associated in a business and friendly way for years, but not one of whom I had seen for six or seven months, and who to my certain knowledge were among the most trusted employees of the D. & O. railway "back East." Had the world turned upside down? Was the West, East? Or what was what? I was soon brought to a realization of the correct state of affairs by Milt Smith, who recognized me and my predicament and kindly (not gently) taking me by the hand, said, in that tenor voice so familiar to you all, and with a rising inflection so high it awakened a drowsy Chinese passenger, who jumped off, exclaiming, "What's matt! Sling bloke?" as Milt repeated, "Well, good Lord!" Of course he knew that wasn't my right name, but I being as bad as he addressed him as "Grover Cleveland." By this time Sile Higgs and J. J. Jones got to us and straightened us out. They informed me they were visiting delegates to the B. of L. E. convention now in session here and together with their wives were attending the meeting of that body and incidentally taking in the sights of California and the West. This I learned to be a fact when "personally appeared before me the following: Joe Robe, Frank Howard, Lou Kastla, Jack Ayres, Harry Johns, Steve Davis, John Godby, W. F. Swern, Dick Kain, W. F. Ross, C. S. Abelle, Jim Connors, Martin Connors, and last, but not least by any means, Pat Glancy. That settled it. I gave up. The boys kindly took me in tow and through their courtesy I learned what follows:

Their headquarters are in room 82, Hotel Holenbeck, where all are registered and all information as to delegates, their whereabouts, etc., is attainable. This is a very busy place, as information of all kinds is dispensed there and the men in charge seem to have been selected for their proficiency in this line. The convention of the B. of L. E. is held in Turner hall, a large and commodious place, while the Ladies of the G. I. A. are convened at Both conventions will transact a large volume of business, some of which is of vast importance, and one who is a close observer cannot but remark the high personnel of the delegates to whom it is entrusted. They compare most favorably with any body of delegates I have ever encountered, state or national. A good comparison being the delegates to the Methodist conference now in session here.

Following is a list of entertainments to be furnished the visiting "tenderfeet" and which will undoubtedly prove an enjoyable diversion from the arduous work at hand:

May 11—Opening ceremonies at Mason's Quera house by B. of L. E. and G. I. A. At this meeting addresses were made by the mayor, railroad officials, officers of the Grand lodge, etc., all of which were agreeably received.

May 12—Reception at Woman's club house, 8:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m., by G. I. A., Divisions 104 and 243. Music by the orchestra.

May 13—Trip on Santa Fe. Leave Los Angeles 7 a. m. Go to Redlands via Highlands. Stop at Redlands two hours. Back to San Bernardino; entertained at lunch by citizens of San Bernardino; thence to San Diego, via Riverside; back to Los Angeles, arriving 10 p. m.

May 17—Free excursion to Hollywood for members of G. I. A. (This was exclusive.) Evidently the ladies wanted to show the men they could plan trips by themselves.

May 18—Trip through Chinatown, 8 p. m. The Mongolian "push" were decorated for the occasion and through the guides furnished by the city, all visiting "tenderfeet" were guaranteed to be returned safely to their hotels. Those desiring to acquire a Chinese, Japanese or Alameda street brogue could be accommodated on application to the nearest police quarters. This trip is one in a thousand.

May 19—Engineers' day at Chutes park. This was an entertainment provided day and evening by the park management, and duly appreciated by those in attendance.

May 20—Trip to Catalina. This trip tendered the visitors by the Southern Pacific to San Pedro, and the Wilmington Transportation company, San Pedro to Santa Catalina Island. This is one of the most enjoyable trips on the list and can only be described fully by one who is fortunate enough to keep his stomach in its proper place while the "boat rolls." Did they get sick? Well, you will have to ask some of the more fortunate ones. I was lead, or wanted to be. The trip across from San Pedro to Catalina Island is one of about three hours duration, the roll of the boat is something fierce (to some people), to others it is delightful. At Catalina you are beset by an army of caterers, just such as you will find at all places of interest. There are a number of points of interest which were taken in by the engineers and their ladies, a few of which were the aquarium collection of living marine animals; sealion rookery; the sphynx; antique quarries; prehistoric cave; large game fish exhibition by the Tuna club, and a trip in the glass bottom boats, where one gets a view of the bottom of the sea and the different things contained therein. You see marine forests waving as if propelled by the wind; shells, rocks, fish of all kinds peculiar to both shallow and deep salt water. This trip is a novelty and should be taken by any person visiting this part of the country.

May 22—Memorial services, First Congregational church, Los Angeles.

May 25—Social evening. Dancing and general good time by G. I. A. at Turner hall, 9 p. m. (11 p. m. by Newark clocks).

May 28—Trip to Riverside (Salt Lake route). Seeing new concrete bridge, the largest in the world of its kind. Entertained by citizens of Riverside; return via Southern Pacific to Colton and Pomona; thence via Covina branch to San Gabriel, where an examination is made of the old San Gabriel mission and mammoth grapevine 140 years old. This grapevine will cover by its shade one hundred and fifty people.

June 2—Barbecue at Playa del Ray, under auspices of B. of L. E., G. I. A., O. R. C., B. L. F. and E. of R. T.

You will note by the above that the trip of our Newark friends will be a very pleasant and profitable one, not soon to be forgotten. I do not think, however, that many of them have been so far captivated by the beauties of the "Golden State" as to think seriously of abandoning their citizenship

Rheumatism Neuralgia

To these two diseases probably mankind owes more suffering than to any others combined. While neither is ordinary, neither is Rheumatism less a torment for heart disease and Neuralgia less a torment for the mind.

NOTE: Newark Lodge, No. 1 is represented by Joseph Robe, one of the ablest and most gentlemanly members of the order. Mr. Robe is well qualified to assume this responsible position and his constituents feel at their interests are safe in his hands. It need not surprise his many friends if Joe, as he is familiarly known, emerges from this convention with a title added to his name.

The ladies accompanying the Newark delegation are:

Mrs. F. M. Howard, Mrs. Jos Robe, Mrs. B. Reiley, Mrs. Mulo Francis, Mrs. L. Kastla, Mrs. J. Connors, Mrs. P. J. Glancy, Mrs. Martin Connors, Mrs. Wm. Ross, Mrs. Harry Johns, Mrs. Milt Smith, Mrs. S. Higgs, Mrs. J. Gorby, Mrs. Steve Davis and Mrs. Chas. Abelle, Mrs. M. Welsh (Bellaire), Misses Stella Howard and Reiley.

Mrs. F. M. Howard is one of the busiest ladies on the Pacific coast and is most ably conducting her part as representative of her lodge. I am under obligations to both Mrs. Howard and Mr. Robe for information contained in this letter.

This I got by the Pacific Wireless! Joe Robe's carbuncle is keeping him quiet.

Frank Howard has caught the regulation California cold.

Lou Kastla is still smiling.

Jack Ayres may run for mayor of San Pedro.

Harry Johns—perfectly satisfied (any old place).

Steve Davis—still looking for a Welshman (Steve has been lost for a day or two).

John Gorby—quiet as ever.

W. F. Swern—fine as a fiddle.

Dick Kain—happy as the day-goes (Dago).

W. F. Ross—trying to get a job in the air (wireless station). Billy is an ex-telegrapher.

C. S. Abelle—just as usual—fine as silk. He may be able to tell something about a pocketbook and seven blocks.

Martin Connors—wondering if the yard is blocked.

Pat Glancy—Getting ready to take them out for a trial trip most any time and place.

The ladies can always take care of themselves and are having the trip of their lives.

Jim Connors says it takes a good man to hang onto the ceiling of a Pullman sleeper and take his pants off.

Mr. and Mrs. Milt Smith can furnish additional data as to ocean bathing at Long Beach and the trip to Catalina Island from San Pedro. They accompanied Mrs. K. and myself and must speak for themselves. I am under a solemn vow to say nothing.

Pat Glancy, the celebrated engine tamer, I understand, had to assist in this feat, and that is why Jim places a considerable distance between her and Mrs. Connors when he thinks she is going to "get even."

If you can send a similar delegation to the coast do so often. I think we will appreciate them fully. There are no people like "ours." Yours truly,

C. F. KOCHENDORFER.

GERMAN GLEANINGS.

Germany's chief exports to her African colonies consist in spiritualistic apparatus.

In 20 per cent of the marriages, in the German empire, the bride was older than the groom.

Attempts at curing beef profitably in Germany have proved successful, chiefly because of the high cost of the raw material.

So many Germans have turned inventors that seventy-two technical clerks are needed for the patent office of the empire. Last year there were about 20,000 applications for patents.

CIRCUS

WILL BE IN NEWARK THURSDAY ALL DAY.

And Chief James Sheridan Has Made Arrangements For Adequate Police Protection.

Thursday is circus day and there is every reason to expect that a large number of pickpockets and night marauders will follow Barnum & Bailey's big show from Canton to Newark. It is very easy for these thieves to break into houses when entire neighborhoods are at the circus. It would be best for all Newark residents to see that their doors and windows are securely locked and to leave a light burning in the house.

Chief of Police Sheridan will give the city the best protection possible. CIRCUS

WILL BE IN NEWARK THURSDAY ALL DAY.

And Chief James Sheridan Has Made Arrangements For Adequate Police Protection.

Thursday is circus day and there is every reason to expect that a large number of pickpockets and night marauders will follow Barnum & Bailey's big show from Canton to Newark. It is very easy for these thieves to break into houses when entire neighborhoods are at the circus. It would be best for all Newark residents to see that their doors and windows are securely locked and to leave a light burning in the house.

THE FATHER'S LETTER.

"This is to thank Paine's Celery Compound for the good it has done. Our daughter Katie, quickly got well again by taking your medicine. She was very sick and tired and not strong enough to go to school any more. She was thinner every day. We nursed her all night every day.

"Our next door neighbor sent us Paine's Celery Compound for her. In two days she was better as she could be up, and was right on her feet, and now she is so well you would not think she had been sick." Mr. and Mrs. John J. Klotzbuher, Gladwick St., Philadelphia.

THE DAUGHTER'S LETTER.

"My father sent you a letter to tell how I was cured after I was so weak and ready to drop. I had to leave school. I was thankful to Paine's Celery Compound. Now we are grateful still more, for we cured our father by the same good medicine. He is a healthy, smiling, and a very large man. He is six feet one inch tall. He was up all night and worked in the morning. Before I began to get well I began to get sick without knowing it. He got so poorly that his face was thin and he was complaining of his head and trouble with his stomach. He would be sick in bed for the first time in his life. Now, I thought, Paine's Celery Compound would do him. I tried it and he was very soon. He is strong and healthy, many thanks are due before. It is all the benefit of Paine's Celery Compound."—Katie Klotzbuher.

I will sign, also, that Paine's Celery Compound, for it made by husband strong and well for us."—Mrs. J. J. Klotzbuher, Gladwick St., Philadelphia.

Two young men were enlisted at the local recruiting office on Tuesday for service in the United States navy before Lieutenant Rileigh Williams, who opened a recruiting office in the rooms of the Licking County Agricultural society, in the northwest corner of the basement of the court house. They were John Arthur Carrier, of 259 Eddy street, this city, and Alonzo Arastus Hawkins, of Junction City. Both were enlisted for landsmen for training at Norfolk, Va. While the recruiting thus far has been slow, the indications are that they will become more numerous before the week ends. NINETY FOUR

YEARS AGO MISS WILSON WAS BORN IN NEWARK

The Anniversary of the Event Was Observed at Her Locust Street Home Tuesday Night

The ninety-fourth birthday anniversary of Miss Sallie Wilson was appropriately observed Tuesday at her home on West Locust street, where she lives with her maiden sister, Miss Jones, aged 85 years, by a number of her friends.

Miss Wilson has passed 94 years in Newark. She was born here and always resided in Newark. She joined the First Presbyterian church when that structure stood on the land which now forms the court house park.

A number of Miss Wilson's friends called at her home Tuesday afternoon and left tokens of their respect and good will. It is scarcely probable that Miss Wilson will live to see many more birthday anniversaries.

Why He Was Out of a Job.

"Why don't you get a regular job somewhere and stick to it?" asked the lady of the hand-out.

"I can't find anything to do at my trade, kaddy," replied Peripatetic Pete.

"What is your trade?"

"Blowin' usin' bottles for young canary birds."

Probably Not.

"One of the scientists says there is no such thing as brain fog."

"I wonder if he ever sat down and tried to let a war expert explain to him the actual state of affairs over in Manchuria."

Where the Love Vine Grows

Copyright, 1904, by Ina Wright-Hanson

"I believe in some signs," said Phyllis, speaking for the first time during the conversation. We turned to her inquiringly.

"Which ones?" asked Aunt Myra.

Phyllis held up her embroidery frame (I suppose that's what it was) and looked critically at her work. She pulled the linen a little; she frowned a little. Phyllis is charming when she smiles, and just then I discovered that she is delightful when she frowns—that is, when she does not frown at me.

"I have done that stitch very well," she remarked complacently. "I will show my work to Juanita, daughter of Juan." And she left the veranda.

"That child!" scolded Aunt Myra. "Instead of sitting quietly here in the shade, she must toil through the heat

"I AM GLAD I FOUND YOU OUT," SHE SAID WITHERINGLY.

to learn drawn work of that old Mexican. She has forgotten her sunshade too."

"I will take it to her," I said, running down the steps. It behooved me to be helpful to Aunt Myra, for she was only after much cajolery that she had taken me as a summer boarder on her ranch, bordering on the desert and bounded on three sides by foothills.

Halfway to the cabin of Juanita are a log and a sycamore tree. We sat down.

"Is there anything more beautiful than this dear old desert, with its sage bush and cacti?" Phyllis began. "Look! See that dear, cunning, little lizard! Oh, he has lost his tail!"

"He will grow another," I answered cheerfully. "Yes; there is something more beautiful than the desert. You are."

"How amusing your comparisons are!" bantered Phyllis, turning her brown eyes sideways on me. "That's like your saying that you admire that Japanese death urn more than the Indian bowl when I asked you if you were interested in Indian pottery."

"Well, you can't deny that it was far handsomer," I persisted.

"Of course," impatiently. "But there is no comparison. It's like comparing a piano and a cook stove."

"Say, Phyllis, what signs do you believe in? You forgot to tell us."

"In the love vine."

I hated to show my ignorance after her rather severe criticism on my comparisons, so I folded my hands and waited. In a moment she continued: "You know if you put a little scrap of love vine on a bush and you name it for somebody you care for and it lives, why, it's a sign that he loves you, and if it doesn't live he doesn't love you."

"Ah!" I breathed responsively. "I tried it once. Teddy and I each got a piece."

"Who's Teddy?" I growled.

"Oh, a man! We each got a piece and put them on a nice green bush. We named them each other's names, and if they grew we were to marry."

A pause while I dug my heel savagely into the sand.

"Well, why don't you ask if they grew?"

"Of course they grew," I muttered.

"They did not grow," she said firmly, "and so I did not marry Teddy. He was very handsome," she sighed.

"I wish I were," I remarked tentatively.

"You do well enough as you are. It isn't always the handsomest men that are the best. I remember that what I admired most about Teddy was that he could wiggle his ears and move his scalp."

A suspicion came to me. "How long ago was that?" I asked sternly.

"Oh, I don't know! It was the summer I was ten."

Another pause while I meditated and stole glances at Phyllis. How lovely she was—brown hair, inclined to curl; brown eyes, with a little glint of gold in them; brown skin, with a tinge of healthy red; small, slender, captivating!

"Phyllis," I said suddenly, "I have been wanting to ask you for a long time, I—I—what's the use of putting me off? I—I—"

She rose hastily. "I had nearly forgotten Juanita, daughter of Juan. I—I—"

"Hanging the daughter of Juan!" I exclaimed. "I want an answer. You don't need a lifetime to consider. Phyllis, dear, don't you know what I am trying to say? Can't you help a fellow out a little?" I halted and wiped my perspiring brow.

"I think you are trying to ask me if I won't try the sign of the love vine with you," she answered sweetly. "Why, of course I will."

So, a trifle sulky, I went across the hot, white sand, and Phyllis went with me, picking her way daintily over the rocks, avoiding the cactus plants, which, though engaging enough to call forth rare adjectives from Phyllis, were not desirable at close quarters. Here luxuriantly grew the dodder, a parasite, clinging and golden; a thief and a murderer of the plant on which it feeds. We each tore off a piece and went back to the sycamore.

"We will put it right here on this bush," she said. "You see there is none for yards around, so we can't make any mistake. We won't come here for a week, and then we will come together and see if it has lived."

"And if it has?"

"If it has," she said shyly, and Phyllis is charming when she smiles and delightful when she frowns she is altogether irresistible when she is shy—"if it has, why, we love each other truly, and—"

"And we will marry!" I cried, trying to catch her in my arms, but she ran swiftly toward the cabin of the daughter of Juan, calling back over her shoulder.

"But it may not live, you know."

"Today we visit the sycamore," I whispered to Phyllis when the week had gone.

"At 4 o'clock," she whispered back. "It's too warm now."

As though the heat had ever before mattered to the little witch. She had disappeared, and my book was dull. It was only 3. I might as well take a walk till she was ready. Strangely, I soon found myself at the sycamore tree, looking around for our love vine. It had not lived!

I looked across the gleaming white sand and up into the cloudless sky. It had to be done, of course. I took off my coat and sighed. Then out into the relentless sunshine I walked, out where luxuriantly grew the dodder, clinging and golden, a thief and a murderer—yes, and a liar, too, but I would soon remedy that.

In a few moments every bush near the sycamore was resplendent with love vine, looking as though it had grown there for years. As I picked up a telltale thread from the sand and straightened up to admire my handiwork I nearly fell flat upon it. Under the sycamore tree stood Phyllis, a covered basket upon her arm and a cold, cold look on her lovely face!

"I am glad I found you out," she said witheringly, sitting down upon the extreme end of the log, "before it was forever too late."

I sat down on the other extreme end. "Phyllis," I said solemnly, "have you not yet learned that a man would commit any crime for a beautiful woman? And surely what I did is not so bad as murder, or—or—at least, is it?"

"Not quite so bad, perhaps," she sighed.

I moved nearer. She set the basket between us. As I scowled at it I saw hanging from it a yellow thread. I pulled at it stealthily. It was dodder! That creation of willow was full of dodder!

Then I set the basket deliberately upon the ground and took Phyllis into my arms.

"There may have been extenuating circumstances," she murmured.

JOHN M'GAW WOODBURY.

Man Who Keeps a Great City's Streets Clean.

Major John McGaw Woodbury, the head of the New York city street cleaning department, is said to be worth from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000, yet he gives his services to the city and carries on the work of cleaning up the public places of the great metropolis for a salary of $7,500 a year. Having been sailor, cow puncher, soldier, linguist, physician and bacteriologist, he has had experience in fields that qualify him especially for directing the great work of keeping a big city clean. An alderman once asked the commissioner to reinstate a driver.

"We can't have him in this department," said the commissioner. "He has been dismissed twice for intoxication." The commissioner got the man a position elsewhere.

Her First.

A small boy, aged five, had a step-mother who was young and nervous. She had never had experience with children, and the small boy's slightest ailment tortured her into a panic.

Croup threatened one day, and the doctor was sent for in wild haste. As the doctor entered the room the child raised his head from his pillow and croaked hoarsely in apology for the hasty summons.

"You must excuse her, doctor. This is the first time she's ever been a mother."—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Raiver of Pickles.

"Anything I can do for you, madam?" asked the clerk in the seed store.

"Yes," answered the sweet thing, tapping the counter with a tapering finger. "I wish to ascertain if bottled pickle seeds will grow as well as those of the bulk variety."—Indianapolis Sun.

"Can't guess."

ECZEMA KEPT SPREADING.

Six years ago my wife had a breaking-out below her knees. At first red bumps appeared, but soon white, husky sores came, and when these would shed off the place became red again, and would itch and burn so that she found it impossible to sleep. At times a yellow water ran from the bumps, and it kept getting worse and worse. Our family physician pronounced it Eczema, and prescribed ointments and powders, but it kept spreading, breaking out on her body and arms, and almost closed up her ears. The druggist at Garner told me to try S. S. S., which she did, and after taking several bottles was cured, and is well to-day and has been for years.

W. A. HOOVET.

The humors and poisons that produce the itching eruption, roughness and redness of the skin, must be rooted out before there is complete relief from the terrors of Eczema. Nothing applied externally does any permanent good, for whenever the blood is overheated, or the skin is reacting during Spring and Summer, the disease breaks out again. You can't rely upon washes, soaps and salves, or such things as are applied to the surface, for they do not reach the seat of the trouble, which is internal and deeply implanted in the system; the blood is aflame with the itching, burning humors, which are carried by the circulation to the surface and are being constantly forced out through the glands and pores of the skin, and you can never heal the sores or stop the aggravating eruptions with external applications.

To neutralize the acids in the blood and expel the humors and poisons is the only way to get permanently rid of this torturing skin trouble, and no remedy known does this so quickly and thoroughly as S. S. S. It purifies the blood and restores it to health, and the outbreak of the poison through the skin ceases, and the sores and eruption gradually disappear. S. S. S. builds up the thin acid blood, makes it rich and strong, and restores to it all the elements of nutrition, and drives from the circulation all impurities; and under the tonic effect of S. S. S. the general system is invigorated and toned up, and you not only get rid of your old skin trouble, but the health is benefited in every way. S. S. S. being a strictly vegetable medicine, acts gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as do Arsenic, Potash and other minerals which are usually prescribed in skin diseases.

Eczema cannot be cured by anything applied to the surface of the body; the blood must be purified and the cause removed, and in no other way can this deep-seated skin disease be reached. If you have Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Nettle Rash, or any form of Eczema, you will find S. S. S. does its work well and thoroughly, and relieves the itching and burning, soreness and pain, and soon produces a lasting cure.

HE STRUCK IT.

Tommy's Thoughts Were Elsewhere, but He Could Guess.

"There is a sentimental Tommy in almost every school," said Michael King of Lewiston as he leaned over the counter of his cafe on Main street and on a luscious pumpkin pie. "There was one in our school when I was a boy. He was Tommy Traver, and he was a mighty smart little fellow. But he never had his lessons. He knew where every bird nested, where the May flowers grew the thickest and where the high top sweetwits fell first, but, bless you, he couldn't remember his lessons. He was excited in many matters too. He knew all that was passing in the politics of the state and nation, but he was off in his history lesson. One day he came in late and couldn't keep his thoughts on his book. On his way to school he had seen a big mud turtle by the side of the track, and he had to put a big rock on him to hold him till night, and his anxiety lest the turtle should get away blinded his eyes. He hoped that somehow the teacher would pass him over. He listened to the other children reciting, with a big mud turtle or wing away before his eyes, with a rock on his back, but finally the teacher's eyes fell on him.

"Tommy Traver, what battle was Lord Nelson killed in?"

"Tommy was a despotic, but he found a way."

"Did you see Lord Nelson?" he asked anxiously.

"Yes."

"Where?"

"On the water."

"Was he swimming as the Lord of the sea?"

"No, he was on a ship."

"What ship?"

"The Victory."

"What was the Victory doing?"

"It was fighting the Battle of Trafalgar."

COLLECTOR SUICIDED

It is Hinted That J. H. Malcolm Was Short in His Accounts With Collier Publishing Co., and He Took Fatal Dose of Morphine.

J. H. Malcolm, of Toledo, a collector for Collier's Weekly, who has been working in Newark for the past week, suicided about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, by taking an overdose of morphine.

The cause of the act is supposed to have been a shortage in his accounts with the Collier Publishing Company. His body was taken to Dowers & Bradley's undertaking parlors and his wife in Toledo has been notified by telegraph by Coroner C. F. Legge.

The man was first seen Wednesday morning by John Ulfner, bartender at John Cosgrove's saloon at 125 East Main street. Mr. Ulfner had been in the saloon waiting on a customer and went to the front door. He was surprised to find a man sitting on the doorstep in a supposed intoxicated position. Mr. Ulfner ordered the man to move on but he received no answer. After further investigation he found that the man was sick. With the help of a passerby Malcolm was dragged into the saloon and Dr. Edwin Nichols, Dr. W. H. Knauss and Dr. C. F. Legge were sent for. They at once detected the morphine and made heroic efforts to save the man's life. They worked with him for one hour, but he died at 12 o'clock. The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of Dowers & Bradley.

Coroner C. F. Legge took charge of the man's possessions. He found his name to be J. H. Malcolm, and his home to be in Toledo. Among the letters found in his clothes was a letter from his wife. The coroner immediately telegraphed her of the suicide of her husband, and it is expected that word will be received from her yet this afternoon. This was the only personal letter found the others being of a business nature.

W. R. Bowdell, who is also a representative of the publishing firm, stated to an Advocate reporter that Malcolm received a telegram Wednesday morning from the Cleveland manager for Collier's demanding a report of his collections, none having been made for a week. Mr. Bowdell is of the opinion that Malcolm was short in his accounts and that was the immediate cause of his suicide. He stated that he should have had about $500 on hand, but the coroner was able to find only 65 cents. Mr. Bowdell immediately telephoned to the Cleveland manager.

An ounce bottle of morphine was found in his clothes. No label was on the bottle and it is impossible to ascertain just where the morphine was purchased.

The initials "J. H. M." were found tattooed on his left arm.

The dead man resided on West Church street. It is said that he attempted suicide Monday night by asphyxiation, but his attempt was discovered and the gas was turned off before he was seriously affected. He also made another unsuccessful attempt in the same manner.

It is believed that he was a morphine fiend.

Besides his wife he leaves an infant child in Toledo.

A traveling auditor for the Collier Company is expected in Newark Wednesday evening, to go through the man's receipts.

Among the papers found in the valise of Malcolm were a number of Odd Fellows receipts, which show that he was a member of this order.

TONGUE-TIED ORATOR

A Story Told to Illustrate a Valuable Every-day Fact.

"To illustrate a point I wish to make," said Mr. Frank D. Hall, the well-known druggist, "let me tell you of an orator who had the most wonderful eloquence of any man I ever knew. Yet he had a great misfortune. He was tongue-tied, and when he got up to make a speech, he would stammer and stutter and finally have to sit down. Yet about once in five or six times his trouble would vanish, and then I tell you he was simply grand."

"Now, my point is this: Old-fashioned cod liver oil is like that orator. Once in a great many cases it does immense good, but oftener than not the sticky, nasty oil or the unwholesome materials used to make it into an emulsion so interfere with digestion that all its medicinal value is lost. Yet we know genuine strength-building curatives are enveloped in the oil."

How shall we get these valuable health-building medicinal elements without taking the oil also?

That question was answered by the two great French chemists, Gautier and Mourguet, who gave to the world their great discovery of separating the curative medicinal elements always known to exist in the cod's liver, from the oil or useless part.

The product is known as Vinol— which actually contains all that is medically good of cod liver oil, without a drop of oil or any disagreeable feature—thus producing the grandest tonic reconstructor known to medicine. Vinol is now making remarkable cures as a tonic and restorative where old-fashioned cod liver oil failed. We guarantee it to make strength for the weak, vitalize the old, cure coughs, hanging on colds and bronchial troubles. If it does not, it won't cost you a cent to try it. Frank D. Hall, Drug-gist.
